Radisson Hotel & Suites Renovation 160 East Huron Street, Chicago, Illinois

Renovation of this Chicago Streeterville neighborhood high rise hotel developed a more welcoming presence just off Michigan Avenue. Reconfiguration of the structure made this possible.

Renovation of this existing concrete frame structure included the relocation of the lobby stairway to an exterior bay of the building. This allowed the architect to introduce a two story window system bringing natural light into the lobby. The registration desk was then moved to a more welcoming location.

At the entry, a bulky cantilevered concrete canopy was removed and replaced with a slender arching suspended steel canopy. A smaller canopy over an office entry way was also added. (TSG developed and detailed the solutions allowing for this transformation.) The canopies created an architectural presence attracting patrons from nearby Michigan Avenue and giving the hotel a new signature.
